Dr. Dorothy Miner, Librarian and Keeper of Manuscripts at the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore, will lecture on THE MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPT AND THE FORMATION OF BOOK DESIGN at The Cleveland Museum of Art Sunday, December 9 at 3:30 p.m.

Miss Miner is a recognized authority on medieval manuscript art and will discuss the manuscript as a prelude to the fine standards adhered to by the earliest craftsmen. Slides of manuscripts and early printed books will illustrate the lecture.

Educated at Columbia and New York Universities and in London, Miss Miner is a member of the Medieval Academy. Her interests are Carolingian manuscripts of the Apocalypse and informal 15th century drawings.
